COWLEY SPORTS SATURDAY OF NEXT WEEK, MAY 24

Preparations are about completed for the big Victoria Day sports to be held at Cowley on Saturday of next week, May the 24th.

A splendid programme of horse racing and general sports will feature, commencing at 1 p.m.

There will be a baseball tournament during the afternoon, and a grand dance at night.

MACLEOD TO HAVE

ROADS DEPOT

The provincial department of public works has purchased from the town of Macleod a block of land, over four acres, for the headquarters of the road building department.

This land is near the C.P.R., and a spur will be built into it, so that all heavy machinery and stocks can be unloaded into the warehouse and garage, for the use of the department.

Contracts have been called for he erection of a brick building, 50 x 100 feet, which will be the first section of the buildings to be erected.

'THE VIRGINIAN' IS BIG TREAT IN STORE FOR ORPHEUM, MON-TUES WED

Audiences at the Orpheum theatre will have the opportunity the first half of next week to learn whether preview critics were correct when they said that "The Virginian" is "The Covered Wagon" of all-talking pictures. The Owen Wister classic of pioneer days on the Western cattle ranges has all the earmarks of an epic film. The manner in which it was acclaimed by reviewers indicates that it will go high on the list of really greats.

The film, based on the novel by the same name which brought Owen Wister quick fame in the 80's and which has since been termed the greatest American romance, enjoys the distinction of being the first all-outdoors play to be recorded on the audio films.

But its greatest claim to all-time honors lies in its general perfection in every department. There is a great cast—Gary Cooper, Walter Huston, Richard Arlen, Mary Brian, Eugene Pallette, Chester Conklin, E. H. Calvert, Helen Ware—a superb group of artists who have proved their worth on the stage and the talking screen. There is masterful direction, by Victor Fleming, a genius in his art. There are gorgeous settings—the real out-doors of the pineotteded cattle ranges of the old West. There is tense drama, rich romance, rollicking humor—and the theme is one which deals with an exact chapter in American pioneer days.

DEATH OF MRS. MARY BOYES

The death occurred at Calgary on Saturday last of Mrs. Mary Boyes, widow of the late James Boyes, an old timer of the Pincher Creek district, at the age of 73. Deceased was born in Hamilton, Ontario, and came west with her husband in 1901, locating at Pincher Creek. The following daughters and son survive: Mrs. G. H. Dionne, Pincher Creek; Mrs. Tom Moore, Calgary; Mrs. C. Lynch-Staunton, Lundbreck; Mrs. G. A. LaVale, Rimouski, Quebec, and Miles, at Fortrose, Alberta.

The remains were laid to rest at Pincher Creek on Monday morning.

We regret that an error occurred in our last issue in reference to Miss Frances Linville's results at the Lethbridge musical festival. Instead of attaining second place, Frances won first in a class of about twenty competitors, and her work was highly commended by the adjudicators. Frances is a piano pupil of Miss Charlton here.

LEVEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL KILLED AT BELLEVUE

A sad sequel to a wedding party was red out the main highway through Bellevue on Monday morning, when little Emily Kubaski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kubaski, was knocked down by a car and instantly killed. The car that hit her was one of three or four conveying a wedding party from the church to her home, where the happy event was to have been celebrated.

The police were soon on the scene and immediately summoned Dr. Oliver, coroner, from Blairmore, who, after getting all particulars decided that an inquest was not necessary.

The accident is particularly sad. The parents are well and favorably known, having been residents of Bellevue and Corbin for a number of years.

LABOR WILL HOLD BIG CONVENTION HERE MONDAY

The proposed meeting of the Labor party representatives for the Rocky Mountain riding is to be held in Blairmore on Monday next, and a large attendance is expected. At this meeting the choice of a candidate to contest the riding in the forthcoming provincial election will be made.

RORSTROM SECURES KNOCK-OUT IN STAVELY BOUT

Referring to the recent boxing tournament staged at Stavely, the Stavely correspondent to the Lethbridge Herald states:

The main preliminary bout was between "Manny" Haynes and "Red" Rorstrom, both of Stavely. Rorstrom landed a knockout in the second round when Haynes fell to the floor from a heavy punch behind the right ear.

Rorstrom is a new-comer to Stavely from Blairmore. His weight is 156 pounds which was a contrast to the 218-pound weight of Haynes. So far Rorstrom has been successful in knocking out all his opponents in the first or second round. He is a native of Denmark and holds several fights to his credit in that land. Recently he knocked out Joe Smith in Calgary in the second round.

The bouts were all refereed by Jimmie Green, of Calgary.

FROM FUNERAL PYRE TO TAXI STAND

One of the first persons the traveler is likely to hear about as he lands at Boeblingen on the Island of Bali, one of the smallest islands of the Dutch East Indies, is the mysterious person who signs herself "Mah Patimah, Princess of Bali."

It is said that Mah Patimah was, as a young girl, one of the many wives of a powerful Rajah, of South Bali, in the days when it was the custom of the Balinese to perform suades and burn the widows upon funeral pyres of their husbands. Patimah escaped from the pyre of her departed prince and fled into the jungle. Later she took refuge with the Dutch and in 1906 came back to her own. Today she is probably the most influential native on the island, owning a beautiful palace at Singaraja, the capital.

Patimah lost caste by refusing to die on her husband's funeral pyre, but has won the admiration of all the island through her shrewd business ability. She is now engaged in conducting a Buick taxi service in addition to other prosperous enterprises. Since tourists are responding to the Bali welcome in greater numbers each year, Mah Patimah's taxi service is fast becoming a thriving business.

No Good For Transportation

Proving Speed Of Racing Car Is Of No Importance

Kaye Don, British speed maniac, has failed in his effort to drive the Sunbeam Silver Bullet at a speed faster than Major Segrave's Daytona Beach record of 231 miles per hour. If he had succeeded in his attempt, there would have been no occasion to cheer. What possible good would it do science or the business of transportation to have anybody drive a motor vehicle 231 miles per hour? It would be an achievement, I suppose, to go that fast some day. Air permits of high speed, but we shall never have vehicular routes capable of handling traffic at nearly four miles per minute.

The racing car with which Kaye Don has been challenging the record is a freak, the nature and operation of which demonstrates how impossible any such speed is for transportation utility. The driver has to peer through a telescope sight to see four miles ahead the spot where he will be at the next minute in his headlong dash. If Kaye Don had succeeded it would have been as important as though he had climbed the side of the new Chrysler building in New York barefooted or ridden over Niagara Falls in a baby carriage—and no more important. — Brandon Sun.

Regrets Remove Of
Hon. Vincent MasseyNew York Times Pays Tribute To Canadian Minister In Washington

The New York Times pays a striking tribute to Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister in Washington, whose promotion as High Commissioner at London was announced recently.

The Times states:

"If Mr. Massey had not as Canadian first minister in Washington represented her with such distinguished success, he would doubtless not have been soon transferred to what a loyal Briton must consider an even higher post. His going will be felt as a loss not only by Washington, where he and Mrs. Massey have been most popular, but also by the country at large; for no one among the members of the diplomatic corps has been more sought and honored by cities, universities and learned societies as a speaker on high occasions.

"Mr. Massey . . . has shown practical sense in dealing with the complexities of border relations in commerce and politics. It has been remarked of a cultivated Englishman that he is either an Aristotelian or a Platonist. Mr. Massey is in the sense that he is an Aristotelian, as shown by his business 'and' war record, and a Platonic idealist, as evidenced by what he has done for art in varied forms."

The stigma of weakness which has fallen on this generation is presently to be lifted by Alme Joyal, of St. Boniface, Manitoba. He is going to take a bottle of water from the Atlantic Ocean near Halifax and empty it into the Pacific at Vancouver, walking the distance between these cities, to prove that men of today can stand any hardships their forefathers could stand, and perhaps also those they never had to stand. He expects to make the trip in ten months. Alme Joyal is the son of Jean Baptiste Joyal, son of a pioneer family, descendant of Mary Ann Gaboury, who was the first white woman to penetrate the west beyond the Great Lakes, Alme Joyal declared. Explosion Splices Problem

Accident In Chemical Laboratory
Discloses New Substance For Photograph Records

An explosion has shown how to make photograph records that bend like paper. This blow-up, in a Columbia university chemical laboratory, came queerly enough, not from expansion, but from sudden contraction. It led to the discovery of a new substance, durum, that produces a photograph record that is like paper, but so hard that it does not scratch or break under a hammer blow.

The "accident" was no lucky break, but the climax of years of work that began with the idea of a New York manufacturer, Joseph Reilly. Reilly's business included electro-plating, the process that hardens a thin film of copper into forms that print words and pictures. By some process, he dreamed of making photograph records. After spending $200,000 without success, he consulted Dr. Hal T. Beans, professor of chemistry, at Columbia. Beans said the scheme was all but "impossible," but he was willing to experiment with it.

He believed the secret of the process to be in certain synthetic resins that harden when heated. He cooked nearly 800 tubes, then, as the heat contracted again, the tubes curled up like a shish kebab, and some of the resin stuck to the ceiling. The resin had hardened at explosion speed. The riddle was solved.

Heavy paper is coated with this resin from three to five one-thousandths of an inch thick. The touch of a hot form instantly transforms it into an indelible record.

Where Superstition Was Useful

Superstition has its uses, as was shown in New Guinea. For years the natives refused to be vaccinated. Sir Herbert Murray, Lieutenant-Governor of the territory, finally called in the native chiefs and told them that a big devil-devil was coming to destroy them. Then only hope of escape, he said, was to have the government charm brando on their arms. The natives immediately booked to the government clinic.

Thomas A. Edison says that the people of this world don't know what a millionth of 1 per cent about anything. In that event we might as well knock off and call it a day.

Houses built of chemically treated glass are said to be cheaper and warmer than those of wood or stone.

VERSATILE AND GRACEFUL

All Tingey models are created in Paris and sketched by her there. The Parisian style is copied and adapted for American women in New York by American patternmakers.

Todays model is equally suitable for the matron or younger woman. It is built on wrap-over lines with pleated trim of its own material. Thus, by the way, should be picot edges of the trim. Women's materials the selvage can be used for the bodice and skirt frills.

This style looks stunning made up in delicate rayon or silk.

Fairly heavy georgette, crepe de chine, satin, and thin wool georgette are other suitable tissues.

Small-patterned materials can also be used, but women rather heavier than they would wish, should shun large designs. Shiny materials, such as very glossy satin, will augment rather than reduce the effect of dull surface tissues are most slimming.

This pattern may be obtained in sizes 16 to 20, and 24 to 42. It is ready for immediate delivery. It is priced 25 cents. Be sure to fill in size of pattern. Address Pattern Department.

CHALLENGE! LEMON PIE

Here's another lemon pie, which is simply delicious, but necessitates unusual care and attention. It challenges your ability, so we call it "Challenge" pie.

Beat yolks of 3 eggs very light. To this add juice of one lemon and 2 lemons, 3 tablespoons hot water, 1/2 cup sugar and a large pinch of salt. Cook in double boiler until thick. Have whites of eggs stiffly beaten, add 1/2 cup of sugar to them and fold into cooled mixture. Fill pie shell that has been previously baked, place in oven and brown.

CREAM OF ASPARAGUS

Wash each stalk of asparagus carefully with a vegetable brush to remove all grit. Then cut in small pieces (using all but the very tough parts). Cook, covered, until the asparagus is tender, in enough water to cover the pieces. Drain the water before the asparagus is done. Allow 2 cups cooked asparagus and cooking water to 2 cups medium cream sauce (2 cups milk, 4 tablespoons of flour, 4 tablespoons of butter). Season, and serve hot.

Note:—The less tender part may be cooked longer and put through a sieve. (If desired, the tops may be used for salad.)

The Pharisees' Question About
The Kingdom of God

Matthew 22:23-28

After listening to Christ's parables which were plainly a warning to the Pharisees, the Pharisees took courage and might have asked Him, "Is this the kingdom of God?" But the Ruler of the Herodians, whom they hated, but their common hatred of Jesus was stronger than their mutual hatred of the Pharisees, asked him a political party, a political party which meant that the question they were about to pose was dangerous, or that it might bring him into trouble. His talk, however, lead Him on to say something which they could report as treason and thus secure from the Roman Governor a death sentence. He said, "The kingdom of God is not of this world; if the world had been given to me, I would not have given it to you; I give it to you according to the rule of the Herodians. They were looking for a Messiah who should be their earthly king and free them from Rome.

Pharisees and Herodians began their attack with a preamble which meant that the question they were about to pose was dangerous, or that it might bring him into trouble. Their desire was to have a Jewish kingdom established under the Herodian dynasty.

The Pharisees were the strictest religious sect among the Jews, and were highly opposed to Herodian rule.

They were looking for a Messiah who should be their earthly king and free them from Rome.

"Well, I was bursting to tell you—seemed as if I couldn't get here quick enough. I knew Charman was out, too, and thought maybe you'd like company. Besides, I wanted to borrow a lump o' butter for my dinner. I almost forgot it, same as I forgot to order when the boy came round. Don't you get up, Grandma; I know you're too mox as well as I know you're over."

"And good reason, too!" murmured Grandma to herself as Miss Lizzie waddled off. "Seems as if in the last thirty years there's nothing Lizzie Baker hasn't borrowed of me—unless it's my tooth brush."

She turned to the window, stared for a moment, and then exclaimed: "Why, here comes Lawyer Garfield! What on earth does he want of me?"

CHAPTER XII.

Charman was finding her old schoolmate a rather unsociable companion this morning. Once Grandma's cheery presence was left behind, he relapsed into silence, and was to all appearances given his entire attention to the car. He didn't speak until they drew up before the Bascomb house with its expanse of glaring window glass.

"I'll run in and see Mrs. Bascomb," said Charman from Lizzie, quicker than you can, and we mustn't loiter," than you can."

"I'm not liable to loiter with Emmy Bascomb," replied Jim, stepping out before Charman could move. "Of all the b——"

He left the sentence unfinished, and strode up the path, while Charman, who agreed with him about Emmy, smiled to herself as she watched him enter the side door without waiting to knock. She was regarding the new windows disapprovingly when he came out, tossed Grandma's catalogue onto the back seat, and said, as he started the engine: "Quick work that—considering. Emmy's ordering a hat — by mail!"

The suspicion of a smile curved his lips, and Charman laughed outright. "Did she ask your advice, Jim? I

"My daughter Catherine is fifteen years old. She was very irregular, often sick at her stomach and had to stay in bed two or three days at a time. One of our booklets was sent to us by mail so I got her a bottle of Vegetable Compound. Catherine has been taking it regularly and she is gaining in weight and every way. I told the neighbors and four other girls are taking it with good results." —Mrs. Clarence Jenkins, Box 14, Thornloe, Ontario.

suppose she considered you an authority!"

He threw her a reproachful glance, but said no word. "She showed me the picture, and asked whether to get blue, like her new waist, or black that'll go with everything. Ezra's in favor of the blue, Emmy thought it might be extravagant. I voted with Ezra, not because I cared a darn which she got, but because I saw it was what she wanted."

"Tactful Jim! I didn't know you were a diplomat."

"There's a lot you don't know about me," he responded cryptically, and once more retired into silence.

Charman, who feared to say the wrong thing, said nothing at all for a full minute, after which she added, "I think the division committee suggested: 'Let's wait five minutes and stop under that oak tree. I love this view, Jim, and I haven't been here all summer. How small and peaceful the village looks from here. Somehow it always makes me think of 'O little town of Bethlehem. Doesn't it ever make you feel that way, Jimmy, especially on a winter evening when the lights shine out from the houses?'

The young man, who had obeyed and stopped the car, was leaning forward on the steering wheel, his eyes searching the valley so far below. "You're a queer kid, Charman," he said quietly. "I guess you see things I don't see at all, and never will. It's mighty pretty up here, but I don't think of coming down South with you, Jim. What put such an idea into your head?"

He was so genuinely puzzled that the girl laughed. "Well," explained the old lady, as her granddaughter appeared in the doorway, "so you is! I didn't know but what it was a trap, so I made all the noise I could. And he was right. This ride hadn't been much of a success. Charman was, she told herself, ridiculously disturbed about it. Only the persistent pounding of Great-grandfather Davis's gold-headed cane, raised her to the fact that she hadn't been talking so freely to Grandma, and that she was almost invariably habit on reaching home.

"Well," explained the old lady, as her granddaughter appeared in the doorway, "so you is! I didn't know but what it was a trap, so I made all the noise I could. And he was right. This ride hadn't been much of a success. Charman was, she told herself, which is the same thing."

"This is a lightning change of subject," commented Charman.

"It's no change of subject at all," corrected Jim. "And if we're going to get back before dinner—"

He started the car so suddenly that the girl lost her balance, and for a moment her "woman's crowning glory" brushed his shoulder.

"Sorry," Jim apologized. "I didn't see that rock!"

He released the arm which he had inadvertently thrust out behind her, and Charman said: " Didn't you? For a minute I thought it might be your manner of inviting me to a petting party!"

"I don't pet that way," said Jim, and actually smiled.

"That's better," approved Charman.

"What?"

"The smile. It makes you look more human. You're a terribly grim face, Jim, when you're upset mentally. Sometimes it scares me."

"Who said I was mentally upset?" he demanded, scowling.

"No one had to say it. It's been written all over you for the last hour. I expect that I'm responsible for it in a way, and that makes me sad. Won't you smile and be friends?"

Jim smiled.

"You didn't quote correctly did you?" he inquired.

Charman only laughed, and asked, as the car slowed down before a small, brown, shabby cottage: "Is this where you collect your interest? It doesn't look as if the interest would—well, come easy."

Jim nodded, and reached for a brief case containing papers.

"Oh, Jim!" Charman spoke softly as so not be overheard by any one within, "how can the poor soul meet things like interest? She has three children, you know."

"She's got a husband, and stopped out onto the grass-grown sidewalk. "But—where does she get the money to pay you? She can't possibly—"

"You don't have to worry about that," broke in Jim lightly, and turned away.

A queer, sick feeling crept slowly into the girl's heart. This didn't seem like the Jimmy Bennett she had always known. Did all men change when it came to business matters? she asked herself. Did none of them feel compassion for a woman who had to struggle as this poor woman must be struggling to keep the wolf from the shabby, sagging door? Was it just part of the day's work to them—collecting what must be the pitiful savings of weeks and months? And was Jim, who seemed so kind, like all the rest? Didn't he care?

Charman pulled herself together suddenly, realizing that Jim had been gone some time, and that unless he hurried Doctor Carter would undoubtedly dine on the contents of a cold meat pot. Then the door opened, and through the woman entered and closed behind her. Jim, Charman noted, with the unmistakable traces of regret tears in her red-rimmed eyes, and the girl's heart hardened a bit toward her old playmate and the hard, harsh world of business that was a part of him.

"Did she pay it?"

The question came almost against her will as they started back. "She did," said Jim. "That's why I went there, wasn't it?"

"And you don't feel like Shylock?" burst from Charman in sudden, overwhelming indignation.

Jim looked at her in amazement. "Why in thunder should I feel like Shylock?"

His voice was cheerful, more cheerful than it had been since they started out.

"If you don't know," Charman replied coldly, "it would be useless for me to try to tell you." And it was she who was silent on the ride home.

CHAPTER XIII.

Sorry the ride wasn't more of a success," said Jim, as he left Charman at the side door.

He smiled rather wistfully; but that lingered with her as she turned on the stove drafts. Something in Jim's voice had brought back the uncomfortable feeling she had experienced earlier that day, when she thought he had hurt him. And he was right. This ride hadn't been much of a success. Charman was, she told herself, ridiculously disturbed about it. Only the persistent pounding of Great-grandfather Davis's gold-headed cane, raised her to the fact that she hadn't been talking so freely to Grandma, and that she was almost invariably habit on reaching home.

Teach Blind Children Physical Training

Unable To See Instructor Boys Follow Commands Easly

Blind children, handicapped by their lack of sight, may have overcome many obstacles imposed by nature, but probably one of the most important achievements to their credit within the last year is their triumph in the realm of physical training, an insight into which was given at a class conducted by H. C. Patterson, physical director of the Central Young Men's Christian Association at Montreal.

Visible to see their instructors, the boys followed the commands with the practical ease of their more fortunate brothers who can see, and it was explained that, as a result of the carefully conceived plan for training these children, it was possible to lead them in certain exercises, the object of which is to help them increase their physical fitness. Similar results have been obtained with deaf and dumb children.

India's Caste System Not Breaking Down

Is Strong As Ever Among Orthodox, Says Missionary

"For public service in India," engraved on the back of an imposing-looking medal, bearing the King's insignia, is, in brief, the story of Dr. Margaret MacKellar's 40 years' sojourn and medical work in the Empire of the East, and of a king's recognition of a 'lifelong' of devotion. It is the Kaiser-Hind Medal, awarded only to the Victoria Cross and won by Dr. MacKellar.

He smiled rather wistfully; but that lingered with her as she turned on the stove drafts. Something in Jim's voice had brought back the uncomfortable feeling she had experienced earlier that day, when she thought he had hurt him. And he was right. This ride hadn't been much of a success. Charman was, she told herself, which is the same thing."

But there is another medal of which Dr. MacKellar, a "gracious modest, little lady, with a very large heart, overflowing with India's need, is scarcely less proud. This medal is of pure gold and has four gold bars attached, one for 25 years of service, because such medals are given only to those who have served India for a quarter of a century, and the other three denoting 25 years each.

Dr. MacKellar is a graduate of Queen's University, and she celebrated her 25th anniversary in India from Halifax for India on May 5, this year. Forty years ago her dedication service was held at Ingersoll.

"The caste system is not being broken down in India, and never will be, for although castes are not recognized by the Christians, it is as strong as ever among the orthodox," the missionary said. There are no less than 17 different cookhouses in connection with the hospital, so that women of different castes may have their food prepared separately.

COAL CONSUMPTION ON C.N.R.

More than 2,000,000 tons of United States' coal were used by the Canadian National Railways last year, while 2,920,000 tons of Canadian coal were burned by locomotives and other equipment of the system, it was revealed in statements recently made in the House of Commons. It was explained that 1,000,000 tons of United States coal at cost was taken out of mines owned and controlled by the railway. The Canadian National system operated over 1,000 miles of line in the United States.

A gang of plain clothes men have been operating in the Pass for the past two weeks, endeavoring by all means to get people to break the laws of the land. Well and good, as far as the institutions of the system are concerned, but in the public eye, the more spotters are used, the less regard the public can have for the law.

COL. WOODS MAKES CLEAR IN WASHINGTON ADDRESS THAT U. S. IS NOT BEING BIG BROTHER

No more fitting exponent of the gospel of Canadianism than Col. J. H. Woods, could have been chosen to address an audience at Washington, U. S. A. It was as president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce that Col. Woods spoke to members of the chamber of commerce, U. S.

All Canadians, reading his address were thrilled with his presentation of Canada's place as a part of the British Empire and as an individual nation.

Moreover, in courteous but clear cut terms, he says many things which have needed saying. He makes very clear to the business men of United States, the Canadian attitude toward the new American tariff.

"I am within the limits of moderation," Colonel Woods, declared, "when I say that Canada as a whole, is feeling a sentiment of antagonism toward you in your somewhat ruthless enactments designed to prevent the sale of our goods in your country."

"I come to you frankly to say that we in Canada do not feel that you have been treating us as a big brother should."

"Your attitude sometimes, I think, fails to take into account the fact that we are your largest customer, your nearest neighbor, your best friend among the nations of the earth, your colleague in modern industry, your growing but friendly competitor for the trade of the world."

"It is not, however, to the loss of trade I refer. It is rather to the spirit by which that loss of trade is being brought about."

Col. Woods then pointed out the inevitable result of the high tariff enactments. This is the greater cultivation of markets within the Empire in order to make Canada as independent as possible of tariff enactments of other countries.

"The world trade of the British Empire was in 1927 more than twice that of the United States and greater than that of all northern and western Europe combined. I submit that an Empire which in the face of a great war in which it suffered to the utmost, and notwithstanding the financial stress that followed upon that war, has been able to maintain its supremacy in the trade of the world and to record an increase so remarkable, is an empire which, both in its entirety and in consideration of its great component parts, is entitled to the serious attention of all nations

Do you know what a difference six cylinders make?

It is wise to choose a six-cylinder motor—for in order to get six-cylinder smoothness—Chevrolet smoothness—it is necessary to have six cylinders.

Six-cylinder smoothness takes out vibration and noise. This smooth motor, the body, the passengers, and the driver. Drivers who try six cylinders never want less. Yet many people have not availed themselves of the advantages of six-cylinder performance because they have not discovered how little it costs to buy and operate a Chevrolet Six.

This very low-priced car lasts longer, not only because of fine materials and over-size motors, but also because it is smooth. The big, smooth, 50-horsepower six-cylinder Chevrolet engine is always "taking it easy". From crawling to racing speeds, everything is smooth. There is no feeling of strain.

Come to our showrooms. Drive this brilliant car. Then you, too, will realize why it's wise to choose the Chevrolet Six. Ask about General Motors' Owner Service Policy and the G.M.A.C., General Motors' own deferred payment plan.

BILL PASSES THIRD READING

The third reading was given in the House of Commons at Ottawa on Tuesday night to the measure respecting the Calgary and Fernie Railway Company.

The bill authorizes an extension of time for a period of two years in which to construct a line of railway from Calgary through Kananaskis Pass to the headwaters of the Elk River, B.C., thence along the valley of the Elk to Fernie.

Previous to the carrying of the motion for final reading, the measure was put through the committee stage.

The company originally was incorporated in 1906, and evidence was given before the committee recently that $400,000 had already been spent on the line, twenty-nine miles of right-of-way had been built and five bridges erected. Capital had been subscribed and the company was all ready to go ahead. The line will run west through Turner Valley and the Highwood district.

Getting Ready for Shriners

Between 30,000 and 40,000 members of the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine will meet in Toronto next June under the leadership of Ernest A. Miller, chairman of the Canadian Chapter of the Order. Hotels of the city, including the Royal York with its 1184 rooms will be insufficient to meet the demand, and the Canadian Pacific Railways have been engaged to build a temporary city some 8,000 of the Shriners' "Fee City", as it will be called, will cover 21 acres of land and construction is given out now the tremendous scope of the building program. The city will be 110 feet wide, measure in 80 sets of switch ties weighing 210 tons; 12,900 track tie weighing 800 tons; 30 switches weighing 86 tons; 11½ miles of 85-lb. rail weighing 760 tons; 35,000 tie plates weighing 150 tons; 50 tons of rail fastenings; 30 tons of track spikes; 6 tons of track bolts; 18,000 cubic yards of ballast for 3½ miles of plate rail; 6,000 cubic yards of material for 3½ miles of switch ties; 4,000 cubic yards of earth; the city will be fitted with modern conveniences and a building 220 by 20 feet wide will accommodate 100 cold and hot showers. Lighting will require 75,000 watts, enough to supply 14 miles of city residential and office buildings. The city will be supplied with power from 35 miles of wire strung on 200 poles. THE PASS FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

(The Blairmore Enterprise, 1914)

July 31.—A local tradesman joined a fishing party to the North Fork on Saturday and enacted the leading role in a drama which is well worthy of note. After reaching the stream and finding fish scarce, he decided to leave his party to pay a visit to his homestead, several miles distant, when about halfway over, a rustling in the bushes caused his blood to chill. Looking behind, he espied an animal, such a he could have seen many a time in the ordinary kitchen. He immediately gathered courage and engaged in a race that would have left Tom Longboat guessing. After running a considerable distance, his imagination warned him that this terrible beast of prey was gaining upon him, whereupon he, like a good sport, flung out his luncheon to that bear. This, of course, would never suffice to quench the hunger of the ravenous inhabitant of the wilds, and soon bruin were scattered every direction. Pieces of meat disengaged repeatedly. All this Mr. Bear from the man. He picked up a piece seemed to have cuddled in the corner of that bear to bring home, and now of his mouth, but continued his quest, that souvenirs adorned a mantlepiece for something more satisfying. In a Blairmore home, a rancher's "Doom" seemed to spell itself in the wife at the North Fork mourns the poor man, his limbs tired and stiffened, no time to sidetrack to a refreshing stream, and no food to invigorate his system. Mr. Bear had already cultivated the habit of greed and would not be satisfied. Also, the poor tradesman thought of his last chance. Pulling a six-shooter from his belt, he tossed it out to his chaser, suggesting that the instrument which had accomplished many good services in the past night, is swallowed by bruin, serve to bring him to a standstill and ensure the chances of Mr. Tradesman once more seeing his dear family at home. Bruin swallowed that gun, the trigger tickled his ribs and the automatic discharged repeatedly. Pieces of meat disengaged repeatedly. All this Mr. Bear from the man. He picked up a piece seemed to have cuddled in the corner of that bear to bring home, and now of his mouth, but continued his quest, that souvenirs adorned a mantlepiece for something more satisfying. In a Blairmore home, a rancher's "Doom" seemed to spell itself in the wife at the North Fork mourns the loss of a beautiful pet cat and there is a vacancy in that home that will be hard to fill.

Prince of Wales to Launch Empress of Britain

A royal compliment to Canada as much as to the Canadian Pacific, was the opinion of E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and chairman of the His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales had consented to act as sponsor of the new giant liner of the Canadian Pacific fleet, the "Empress of Britain". "The Prince of Wales," said Mr. Beatty, to learn that His Royal Highness had promised to find time to go up to the Clyde to sponsor our new ship. The Prince of Wales is one of us, we have led to do so much for this country and his keen interest in all things Canadian".

The "Empress of Britain" will be the largest ship built in Great Britain since 1914.

The ceremonial launching, at which the Prince of Wales will be the central figure, will take place at the Clydeside yards of John Brown & Company, the largest ship building concern in the world, on the first anniversary of the opening of largest hotel in the British Empire, the Royal York, Toronto, by the Governor-General of Canada.

The "Empress of Britain" besides being the greatest liner entering a Canadian port, will be the most palatial and up-to-date vessel afloat and, with her speed, will make possible a transatlantic crossing in 10 days between Canada and Great Britain, and will greatly shorten the journey between Europe and Canada and the Middle and Western States. The mammoth liner will be in service next summer, making regular voyages between Southampton, Clacton and Quebec.

NEW COMET NEAR SAY ASTRONOMERS

HAMBURG, May 1.—A new comet was discovered in Hamburg recently by Professor Schwassmann and Dr. Wachmann at the Sternwarte in Bergedorf, which shows clearly on the photographic plate with a star-like center surrounded by a nebulous cloud, although it is not visible to the naked eye.

The comet was first discovered in the constellation of the Lion, but is moving in a northwesterly direction with great rapidity—about six degrees daily. Astronomers judge the comet to be quite near the earth.

LAWYED PLEADS FOR LESS CRIME NEWS IN PAPER

COLOMBIA, Mo., May 9.—A plea that newspapers should publish less crime news was made here by Franklin Miller, circuit attorney of St. Louis, at the session of Journalism Week at the University of Missouri. The audience was made up of editors from various parts of the United States and foreign correspondents.

By giving space to the particular and describing the tricks used by bandits and holdup men, the newspapers unwittingly conduct a school for crime, Mr. Miller said. The daily press, because of its low price and availability, he held, is the most potent influence and carries the greatest power and suggestion to young minds.

COST OF COMPILING MAPS IS $960,890

One-hundred and fifty-one maps of Canada have been made by the topographic survey since 1917, according to an answer given in the House of Commons, and the cost of compiling these maps was $960,890. The largest area surveyed was in Manitoba, where 96,247 square miles have been surveyed. The revenue derived from the sale of the maps since 1925 amounts to $16,590.

ENGLAND BIRTHPLACE OF MUNICIPAL MOTOR-OMNIBUS

As early as 1904 the first motor omnibus was licensed by Scottish Yard. This was owned by the London General Omnibus Co. Horse-drawn electric and steam-driven buses were from that date rapidly supplanted, the new motor-type and the development immediately spread to other large cities in the British Isles.

The Company is now one of the largest city motor-transport operators in the world. During 1927 the total number of passengers carried was 1,323,423,000, an increase of 74,000,000 over the previous year. The average number of passengers carried daily is 3,909,000. The company now owns 3996 buses and operates a total of 4887 covering 880 route-miles.

Revenue last year amounted to $13,46,000, an increase of more than $300,000 above the previous year.

BILLION DOLLAR ALL STAR CAST, "HAPPY DAYS"

Spend "Happy Days" among the stars!

Frank Albertson, Warner Baxter, El Brendel, Walter Catlett, William Collier, Sr., James J. Corbett, Charles Farrell, Janet Gaynor, Richard Keene, Dixie Lee, Edmund Lowe, Sharon Lynn, George MacFarland, Victor McLaglen, J. Harold Murray, George Olsen, Paul Page, Tom Patricola, Ann Pennington, Frank Richardson, Will Rogers, David Rollins, "Whispering" Jack Smith and Marjorie White.

How's that for a billion dollar cast of personalities! These stars and four score other entertainers appear in the happy-go-lucky minstrelsy melodrama, "Happy Days," which will be the attraction at Cole's theatre next week, beginning on Thursday.

Produced on a lavish scale with a wealth of new songs, dancing ensembles, chorus numbers and many unique features, the Fox Movietone picture has been hailed in previews as the most spectacular achievement of the talking screen.

Into the production is woven a dramatic story of an old minstrel, portrayed by Charles E. Evans, whose friends did not forget him in his hour of need. The romantic element is provided by Marjorie White and Richard Keene.

Benjamin Stoloff directed "Happy Days," which has a chorale ensemble of mixed voices and 50 beautiful dancing girls. Sidney Lanfield and Edwin Burke collaborated on the story and dialogue.

The entire music staff at Fox Movietone City was employed in writing the music and songs, embracing such well known composers as B. Wolfe Gilert and Abel Baer, Conrad Mitchell & Göttert, Joseph McCarthy, James F. Hanley, Marcy Klauber, Harry Stoddard and James Broekman.

Cole's theatre-patrons will be given their first opportunity to hear Colleen Moore's voice tomorrow, when "Smiling Irish Eyes," her first all-talking and singing Vitaphone picture, opens at Cole's theatre.

Colleen is making her dialogue debut under auspicious circumstances, as "Smiling Irish Eyes" is a special production, filmed at a tremendous cost, and represents the highest achievement to date in talking pictures. Not only does Miss Moore speak in this First National-Vitaphone production, but she sings several songs, written especially for the picture.

The story of "Smiling Irish Eyes" was the beautiful Irish countryside as a background, almost the entire picture having been photographed in outdoor locations. Miss Moore portrays a little Irish peasant girl, and all her speech is tinged with a soft brogue. James Hall, her leading man, also sings in this Vitaphone picture, which John McCormick produced, others in the supporting cast being Claude Gillinger, Aggie Herring, Robert Hemans, Betty Francisco, Robert Emmett O'Connor, Julianne Johnston and Tom O'Brien. "Smiling Irish Eyes" was directed by William A. Seiter.

FORD FINDS PROFITS IN REDUCED GARBAGE

DETROIT, Mich., May 5.—Henry Ford's experiments with the reduction of garbage to commercial by-products has advanced to a stage which encourages those engaged in the work to believe he soon may be in the market for all of the garbage of greater Detroit.

The experiments, which have been conducted for a month, were discussed on April 20 by an official of the Ford Motor Company. A special test plant built by Mr. Ford, has consumed a ton and a half of garbage from Dearborn daily, he said.

The result has been production of commercial quantities of ethyl alcohol, methyl alcohol, benzol, and from each ton of garbage, in addition, two gallons of light oil, eight gallons of tar, gas which was used for heating the retorts, and a considerable residue believed to be of value as a fertilizer.

The experiments will be continued for two months more before the full results of the experiment are known it was said.

Mr. Ford has been using the garbage of London Eng., in his plant there for some time.

WATER

The following beautiful little poem was written at Pewaukee by Arthur B. Griffen, on March the 20th, 1864 and is treasured by a descendant of the person of George Youngberg, of Bellevue:

"How beautiful the water is!
To me 'tis wondrous fair;
No spot can ever lonely be;
It bathes thousand tongues of mirth
Of grandeur or delight;
And every heart is gladdened made
Where water greets the sight."

SUBSCRIBE TODAY!BRAINS AND PERSONALITY

An Editorial from the Canadian National Railways Magazine.

Not long ago I read a report of a speech delivered by an executive of one of our great corporations of which the subject was "Brains and Personality." It was evidently a good speech, as well it might be with a theme so vital and practical. The great business of life is getting on. We are ever obeying the urge of ambition, ever seeking to do some bigger thing; to attain to some higher place; to exercise some greater influence in the realm in which we move, whether that be commerce, finance, science or art, or any other legitimate sphere. This seems a natural, elemental urge, and the question emerges, how to achieve this greater thing? Undoubtedly, these two elements of brains and personality are among, if they do not constitute, the requisites for success.

We need not place the one over against the other, because both are needed; rather, the inquiry is how should they be blended and what are their relative values?

It is quite evident that the highest success is not always achieved by those who possess the greatest intelligence. I believe it as the Duke of Wellington who, when speaking of the education of boys at one of the public schools of England, said that if the sharpening of wits and imparting of knowledge constituted education we might only succeed in making clever devils. Some of the shrewdest and brainiest of men belong to the ranks of the criminal classes, and many a clever man has fallen from his high pinnacle because he lacked this element of personality though equipped in other respects.

What is personality? If one were asked for a definition of it, one would be hard pressed for a specific answer; yet we recognize the thing even when we cannot put into exact words what it is. We know some of the elements, or expressions, of it; but the thing itself defies definition. It includes attractiveness of manner, amiability, courtesy, and many other like qualities, but these are only surface indications and may be misleading. The true man is often detectable, "a man may smile and smile and be a villain." Ish Heep was one of Dickens' most contemptible characters because he only simulated humility.

Beneath all characteristics is character—the man, himself—and character is as near as we can get to an understanding of personality. So, we ask what is the relative va'ue of brain and character, and which will carry a man farthest in the long run, inspire the greatest confidence and insure him the firmest place in the regard of his fellows.

The human element is fundamental to all real or valuable relationships; it must be remembered that we are human beings living in association with other human beings, who also have their feelings and susceptibilities, their aims and ambitions. The things that bind men together are these cords, silken but strong, of kindness and good will, which in turn proceed from the inner man. If one were asked what is the greatest element in character, the unhesitating answer, in 90 per cent of cases, would be sincerity or honesty. The sincere man, the man who is genuine through and through, who lives without exterior motives, upright as a ship's mast, has something that would gain for him that regard without which no permanent success is possible, however brazen he may be. Few of us if we were entering into partnership with another, or joining our fortunes with his, in some undertaking would accept Duns, Bradstreet, or brains, or all three as sufficient guarantee of an ideal relationship. We should require something more and that something is character. It frequently happens that one may be lacking in many elements of a genuine personality and yet succeed in impressing himself on his fellows. Napoleon was the man for a crisis, and, apart from his martial exploits, he is not remembered with Twenty-two days will be occupied by the annual tour across Canada by the Canadian Pacific Lodge, when his party leaves the Windsor Street station, Montreal, by special train over Canadian Pacific lines to Victoria, B.C. This year will be the seventh trip conducted by Dean Laird and, as in past years, will include automobile trips along the Trans-Canada Highway and from Field, via the Kootenay Valley, to Lake Louise, as well as steamer trips across the Rockies to Banff, Vancouver to Victoria; and on the Great Lakes steamerings from Port Arthur to Lake Superior.

Spring seeding in the west is proceeding at a rapid pace, according to reports at the end of April, from the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Winnipeg. Taking the three prairie provinces as a whole it was estimated that 43 percent of wheat seed had been sown, with some districts in southeastern Alberta reporting between 50 and 65 per cent finished. Heavy showers have somewhat retarded progress in north-western Saskatchewan.

Twelve representatives of the New Zealand press are at present travelling through Canada via the Canadian Pacific on their way to the fourth Imperial Press Conference to be held in London, Eng., next month. The members of this party with their wives and children have been visiting Banff and Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies.

Contracts for land grading has been started on three additional line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, between 146 miles in Saskatchewan and Alberta. It is announced by the company's engineering department, that the new section of railway will provide facilities for passengers and freight into one of the richest agricultural areas now under settlement and will give encouragement to farmers already settled in the areas affected.

With 1,365,200 pounds of fish landed in the Peace River area in March, 1930, as compared with the same month of the previous year, fishermen of the province received a total of $363,000 for their catch according to the latest report of the fisheries branch of the Department of Marine and Fisheries. Total catch reported in March was $4,473,400 pounds.

The new Montreal Harbour Bridge, a two-tier span across the St. Lawrence River, costing at a cost of $12,000,000, will be formally opened on Victoria Day by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada. This bridge, work on which was commenced five years ago, is one of the longest and largest in the world.

Margula wheat still constitutes more than half-of the western grain crop. This is shown by the test samples taken from the various grades of Canadian wheat exported to England in 1928-29 and reported by the Dominion Bureau of Agriculture. The test samples made at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Brandon from samples collected by the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers at ex-port ports.

AUTOMOBILE PRODUCTION INCREASES IN ENGLAND

The Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders reports a considerable increase in the production of motor vehicles in England during 1929. It is estimated that 182,256 private cars and 57,576 commercial vehicles were built in British factories last year, as compared with 165,302 private cars and 46,925 commercial vehicles in 1928. Exports were up and imports down for the year, the total value of automobiles exported showing an increase of £1,300,000, while that of cars imported fell by about £400,000.

admiration, because lasting fame cannot be detached from this quality which we have mentioned. Moreover, we are not thinking of the exception but of the average man and of life in the average.

The greatest asset, the most potent element in success is personality springing from a genuine character. The man with 75 per cent brain and 25 per cent personality would fail beside the man with 75 per cent personality and 25 per cent brain, and the latter will be a happier man, and happiness, which depends upon his friends, and, apart from his marital exploits, he is not remembered with Fish caught by commercial fishers in Canadian waters last year had a value of about $45,000,000. Over 100 countries bought fish and game products from the Dominion in 1929, valued at $38,000,000. More than 50,000 persons were employed in the industry in the fishing industry.

The wild rose is now the floral emblem of the province of Alberta. The provincial parliament has enacted the legislation making this flower, which grows so profusely and abundantly, the provincial symbol. Choice of the emblem was put up to the school children of Alberta and the wild rose captured most votes, with the tiger lily next in favor.

Homesteads taken out through the Dominion Land Office in Alberta during the month of March last broke all records for that month with a total of 277 homesteads and 15 soldier grants which compares with 226 homesteads in March of the previous record March.

Contrary to the general impression, Canadian investments in the United States are greater, per capita, than American investments in the Dominion. An official statement issued shows that the average Canadian has $100 invested in the United States and the average American about $25 invested in Canada.

Something more than appearances will be necessary for grain to win a prize at the World's Greatest Exhibition to be held at Regina, July 25 to August 1932. All entries getting into the prize money at this exhibition will be graded in terms of quality for seed. It is because of the importance of the effect of the distribution of this prize seed to farmers in Canada and throughout the world that the Canadian government has decided that the usual judging standards will be supplemented by a growing test, which in reality is the test supreme.

NEW SHIP ELECTRIC MARVEL

The new Canadian liner, Empress of Japan, has an unusual electric equipment. It has wireless telegraphy, with a wireless direction finder, electric apparatus for submarine signalling, a gyroscope compass, electric phonograph repeater, electric motion picture outfit and electric stove.

For the benefit of those who contemplate camping, we publish the following extract from a regulation now in force in Alberta: "Warning to Campers and Travellers—Camping or travelling is prohibited throughout the Crowsnest National Forest from April 1 to November 30th, except under permit. This action is taken under the provisions of Section 71 of the Forest Reserve Regulations, as it is considered necessary in the interests of fire prevention. Your co-operation is solicited." In connection with the above, the permits required are issued without charge by any forest officer, and are solely of use in assisting in the fire prevention and protective activities.

Famous last words from Coleman: School proposal wholly wrecked by Blairmore.

While her builders maintain secrecy as to her engines, the new Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Britain" is hailed by newspapers in the Old Country as a challenger in the Atlantic speed race. The London Daily Mail claims that she will prove a formidable rival of the Bremen, and in any case will set up a new Atlantic speed record, for the journey from Southampton to Quebec will be made in five days less.

So far the Canadian Pacific has made no claim for the new liner beyond the statement that she will bring Canada and a day's saving to England and will be the most luxurious liner afloat.

Every first class cabin is to be an outside room with natural light and air and the room without bath attached to it. Other ways in which the new ship exceeds the old is that it includes two stages fully equipped for theatrical performances, Turkish baths, swimming pool, squash racket court (the first on an ocean liner), full size tennis court on sports deck, beauty parlour, violet ray installations and a series of public rooms designed and decorated by prominent members of the Royal Academy.

Now building in Scotland, the Empress of Britain will enter service early in 1931. The sixteenth liner to be built for the Canadian Pacific, she will be launched in a three year period, and the Empress of Britain is designed to accommodate 1,100 passengers in First, Tourist Third and Third classes. A compartmentalized ship of 40,000 tons, the "Duchess" class which accommodates 1,600 passengers, indicates the lengths to which the company has gone to make the ship a success. One outstanding feature of the accommodation is

In addition to her position as Speed Queen of the St. Lawrence route to and from Europe, the Empress of Britain will have the distinction of being the largest liner making round the world cruises, achieving this by the comfortable margin of 8,000 tons.

EFFORTS TO MAKE LIQUID COAL

GLASGOW, May 5.—At the fifty-second annual meeting of the Mining Institute held here recently, various matters relating to the mining industry in Scotland were discussed and a paper on "Low Temperature Carbonization" was read by William J. Skilling.

Mr. Skilling said the enormous development of the process of carbonizing coal at low temperatures during the last 10 years or so had behind it two main objects: the first was the replacement of the 40,000,000 tons of coal burned annually in the domestic grate by a suitable smokeless fuel, which tended to clean the atmosphere to a great extent; and the second, an attempt to develop a home source of liquid fuel to replace a portion of the petroleum oil.

It must be generally accepted, he claimed, that the manufacture of a free-burning smokeless fuel from bituminous coal was an accomplished fact, but the problem which remained to be solved was whether any of the existing processes could claim to be successful from a commercial point of view.

LIFE'S SYMPHONY

To be thankful for each new day and to put into it and get out of it all the good I can.

To give, expecting nothing in return, to help to bear the burdens of others without burdening them with mine, to know enough of sorrow to be able to sympathize, to know enough of sin to direct others into right paths, to be blessed with enough of this world's goods to be satisfied with what I have, to look to Nature for my spiritual lessons and my daily sermons, to take care of the present and to let the past and future take care of themselves.

In other words, to live each day as though it were my last.

This is the philosophy of my life, the symphony of my soul.

Can "Good" Be Accomplished By "Force"?

Through the ages as man has struggled upward from his caveman state to his present condition of semi-civilization—for it requires only a hurried glance through the columns of any daily paper any day to prove that man is not yet fully civilized—he has carried with him the brutal instinct to try and accomplish things by force rather than by persuasion; instead of trying to change the mind of another man, he tries to change his body. The more civilized, the better educated man becomes, the more does he rely upon appeals to reason instead of having resort to force. None the less the state of man's nature today, and our tendency to resort to the power of force over others, even though we ourselves reveals how largely we still depend on force to govern our everyday affairs.

The question, therefore, naturally arises: Has any definite lasting good ever come to humanity through the exercise of force? Consider, for a single, uncontrovertible example, the remarkable range of progress in history where compulsion has been the direct and sole agency in changing the mental attitude, the belief, the convictions or the conscience-sense of any one normal intelligence? Without reserve one may venture to say "No" to both questions.

There is profound truth in Butler's couplet: "He that combats against his will is of his own opinion still." One may be persuaded to change one's mind, to take a different viewpoint, to espouse another belief, to modify or disprove one's own convictions, a few degrees at a time, and through it all to act differently—the action being either good or bad according to the prevailing general opinion; but it is sincerely to be doubted that force, no matter who it is, or for what its avowed purpose, can of itself will the normal intelligence of man to change his mind and heart—that it necessarily produces a new line of action. Without the voluntary conversion of the individual mind and heart, that is, of thought and conscience, there can be no reasonable expectation of bringing about definitely, permanently and satisfactorily the conditions of social, political, economic, moral or spiritual reform. All our social reformers, our political leaders, our legislators, would do well to ponder this thought and pay closer heed to the lessons of experience and history.

We would study impartially the action of unleashed force directed with the ostensible purpose of producing eventual good, we may turn our eyes toward Russia today. True, the conflicting reports coming out of the country advise us to draw conclusions with a certain reserve; yet there is enough of the available records to show that the Russian Government, for the sake of its complete domination of Russia, their chief trying to do what they consider to be good practically altogether by the exercise of force. A marvelously organized minority seeks to compel a helplessly disorganized majority to accept their view, and question its views as to what is best for the political, social, economic and material welfare of the whole.

And all history tells us that this cannot be done. Reform by force lasts just so long as the force which brought it about is strong enough to maintain it. Force not only invites opposition, but generates it. And soon or late, if the force is not to be overcome, we must expect to see a clash of forces, more disturbance and confusion, reaction or, perhaps, some more compulsory "reformation." But we cannot say confidently that out of it all there has come a single, definite step of progress. Force is the antithesis of progress, and the only way to bring about co-operation of all the interests involved there can be no genuine progress.

What is true of Russia now, would be equally true of any other country, state, or community. No matter how desirous the proposed or actual reform may be, if it is to be achieved, it must be done by the voluntary and earnest co-operation of a pronounced majority of all concerned even unquestioned good is not likely to be achieved. And surely no intelligent person would be content with "forced good."

Canada Has Barred Importation Of Parrots

First Outbreak Of Parrot Fever Is Reported From British Columbia

Canada will declare immediately an absolute embargo on the importation and transportation of all birds of the parrot species as a result of representations from the British Columbia Department of Health, which is now engaged in systematic efforts to stamp out parrot fever.

Meanwhile, Dr. H. E. Young, provincial health officer, and his department, are engaged in a systematic campaign to confine the outbreak of parrot fever to a few cases around Vancouver.

They have been in telegraphic communication with United States authorities to secure the latest possible information on the subject.

"This is the first outbreak of this disease, so far as we know in the history of Canada," Dr. Young said.

"The health department here has records of all parrots brought to Canada from the Orient in recent months, and is endeavoring to ascertain their present whereabouts so that they may be examined."

NEW APPOINTMENT

R. G. MCNEILLIE

Prominent among the spring promotions of Canadian Pacific Railway officials was the appointment of R. G. McNeillie, as assistant passenger traffic manager of eastern lines, with headquarters at Montreal. Mr. McNeillie, who was general passenger agent, at Winnipeg, for eight years, left at the end of April for the east, his new appointment becoming effective May 1.

Mr. McNeillie entered the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1901, as a stenographer in the general passenger department, at Winnipeg, becoming chief clerk in 1905. In that year he became assistant manager of the depot at Nelson, B.C., and district passenger agent at Calgary, in 1910. He was promoted in 1913 to the position of assistant general passenger agent, western lines, with headquarters at Winnipeg, becoming general passenger agent in 1922.

Before his departure for Montreal, Mr. McNeillie was remembered by the members of the passenger department from the head of the lakes to Field, B.C., and at Minneapolis with a homelike声誉, with cut glass decanters and glasses, and a wardrobe suit case, the presentation made by C. E. McPherson, who is now acting in an advisory capacity to the passenger department.

Was Run Down AND VERY WEAK

Too Little Blood the Trouble

Mrs. Jas. A. Haugh, Bridgewater, N.S., writes: "I was badly run down and very weak. So much so I could scarcely walk without help. My doctor advised me to go to a dietitian.

"I had continuous headaches and could not get a restful night's sleep. Different remedies failed to be of any avail. I was growing steadily thinner. One day, however, I saw an advertisement of a case similar to mine which had been relieved by Dr. William P. Oster's Pill, and decided to use them. A few weeks' use of the Pill fully restored my health and now my household duties are a pleasure again of a totality."

Mrs. Haugh's little trouble was that she had too little blood. Dr. William P. Oster's Pill is said to aid her blood and that the blood promoted good health, for where good blood abounds disease cannot exist.

You can get these Pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. William's Medicine Co., Brooklyn, Out.

Dates From Middle Ages

The expression, "The weakest goes to the wall," dates from the Middle Ages. In those days churches lacked pews and the congregation stood on the rail-strewn floor of the nave throughout the service. Along the wall ran a low stone seat, which was used by the aged and infirm. The seats which gave rise to the expression may still be seen in some churches.

WIDER BRITISH PREFERENCE IS BEING SOUGHT

A sub-amendment to the budget introduced a provision from the Progressive group. Moved by W. R. Fansher, Progressive, Lake Mountain, Saskatchewan, it reads as follows:

"That all words after 'it is of the opinion that' in the amendment in the 10th line thereof be struck out and the following substituted therefor:

"The government having definitely adopted the principle of increased protection, modified only by certain extensions of the British preference, it is to be regretted that more effective consideration has not been given to the position of agriculture and labor; but that, on the contrary, the changes made in the iron and steel schedules will result in an increased cost in all structural work and the machinery of production, and further that the best interests of Canada would be served by a more substantial increase in the British preference, particularly as affecting the import of articles of a similar character, together with a modification or abandonment of the regulations requiring a 6.50 per cent. Empire content which have largely nullified the effect of our preference given."

That a much larger proportion of our revenues should be provided for through direct taxation, more especially through the Income Tax.

"We further wish to state our conviction that these and other changes in our fiscal policies are not of themselves a solution of our modern economic problems but that effective encouragement should be given to the development of co-operative principles, having regard to production, distribution and the utilization and control of credit."

Mr. Fansher asserted that the regulation which requires that there be 50 per cent. Canadian materials and craftsmanship in certain commodities in order that they may obtain the benefits of the preferential tariff, was making it harder and harder for goods to come into Canada from Great Britain.

Aviator Makes Heroic Flight

But Failed In Effort To Save Life Of Wounded Boy

Edmonton, Alberta.—An heroic 160-mile trip by plane from Grande Prairie to the bush-covered Sturgeon Lake area 80 miles to the eastward, and return, failed to save the life of a 17-year-old boy who was accidentally shot, according to meagre reports just received in Edmonton. The name of the youth is at present unknown.

Flying Officer Spadlow, of the forestry patrol at Grande Prairie, dared unknown dangers in a desperate effort to reach the wounded youth, and after dodging and twisting between trees, finally landed his machine a mile and a half distant from the boy's home. The lad was brought over the intervening distance in a wagon, across a corduroy road. He died while the "plane" was speeding toward Grande Prairie.

Increase In Savings

Bank Deposits For March Showed Considerable Advance

Ottawa, Ont.—Savings deposits in Canadian banks increased by $15,675,811 during the month of March, according to the bank statement issued through the Department of Finance. At the end of March, savings deposits held by the banks totalled $149,511,311. There was a decrease during the month in the amount of call loans held outside Canada by the banks, and an increase in the amount held in Canada.

Expect Premier King Will Be Candidate

Prince Albert Liberal Association Working On That Assumption

Prince Albert.—From Dr. G. A. Robertson, president of the Prince Albert Federal Liberal Association, it was learned that the organization is working on the assumption that Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King will again run in this riding.

"The premier," Dr. Robertson stated, "had assured us that as long as we want him, he will be the Liberal candidate for this constituency. Practically all the polls have already favored the resolutions of confidence in Mr. King to that effect. A convention will be held only as a matter of form but the date has not yet been decided upon."

Conservatives in the riding are holding a nominating convention here, June 6, and among the names mentioned as probable candidates is that of George Braden, well-known Routher Conservative; D. L. Burns MacDowell, who opposed Premier King at a previous election also mentioned.

Harry Davis, unofficial leader of the Labor element in Prince Albert, when asked recently if his forces contemplated taking an active part in the coming election, declared that such was not the present intention but that they were gathering their strength for the next provincial tilt.

Many Are Seeking Broadcasting Licenses

Majority Not Likely To Be Considered Until Election Is Over

Ottawa, Ont.—More than 200 applications for broadcasting licenses have been submitted to the Department of Marine, which department has charge of radio services. The great majority of these will likely be held in abeyance until after the general elections, it was intimated by departmental officials. Some of the more extensive projects may be authorized but the others will have to wait.

One of the applications which may be granted very soon is from the Canadian Pacific Railway for permission to erect three high powered broadcasting stations, one in Montreal, one in Toronto and one in western Canada, at a point to be selected later.

The general impression on Parliament Hill is that the committee selected by the House of Commons to consider the recommendations of the royal commission that investigated broadcasting, will not proceed in view of the impending dissolution. Students of the problem think the elections will give an opportunity to crystallize public opinion either for or against public ownership and in the meantime the report will be allowed to stand over.

"Wop" May Visits Ottawa

But Distinguished Aviator Slips Away Without Seeing Officials

Ottawa, Ont.—Slipping through the city quietly that officials of the Department of National Defence, who had been waiting for him, did not know that he had actually been here, Captain W. R. "Wop" May, Edmonton, recently awarded the McKee trophy as the Canadian having contributed most to the cause of aviation in 1929, paid a brief visit to the Canadian on May 6.

Since the award of the trophy was announced, air officials have been anxious to get in touch with the noted flier, to inform him of his success. Had Col. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, been aware of the winner of the trophy was in the city, his departure would undoubtedly have been delayed in order that formal presentation might be made to him of the great honor he takes back with him.

May came down onto the Ottawa River, opposite Rockcliffe aerodrome, in one of the new Bellanca monoplanes just purchased by the Airways Company of which he is chief pilot. After refueling and having a brief chat with mechanics—during which he spoke rather boastfully of his success in being awarded the prized trophy—May took to the air again, bound for Sudbury, Ont., and eventually Edmonton.

Heavy Liquor Shipments

Vancouver, B.C.—With the cancellation of licenses for export liquor warehouses effective June 11, as provided in the Federal Legislation, heavy shipments of liquor from Vancouver to Europe have been made during the past two weeks. Recently the steamship "Pacific Pioneer" carried 21,150 cases of bonded liquor back to the United Kingdom and the motorship "Drechdyck" carried 700 cases.

Elimination Of Weed Seeds Is Discussed

Proposition Made To House Of Commons By G. G. Cott

Ottawa, Ont.—Elimination of weed seeds from feed oats and barley was proposed before the agriculture committee of the House of Commons by G. G. Cott (U.F.A., MacLeod). He wanted the establishment of feed grades of these grains free from weeds and believed weed seeds could be cleaned out of oats and barley.

The difference between the classes of feed oats and of seed oats in the present schedules of the Act, it was explained, is that feed oats might be frozen. Other members of the committee considered the suggestion impracticable. The matter was left over for further consideration.

BRITAIN WOULD CONSIDER LAND SETTLEMENT AID

The Pas, Man.—The British Government is ready to consider any feasible project to promote land settlement in the Carrot River Valley, according to a letter received by town officials from the secretary of state for dominion affairs.

The Carrot River Valley lies to the southwest of The Pas, and includes land in both Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The letter from the overseas department points out, however, that settlement aid from England would necessarily be subject to certain conditions, such as the Empire Settlement act of 1922, and financial support from either the Federal or Provincial governments both. The letter also points out that the British Government does not contemplate purchase or ownership of land in settlement purposes.

The communication from the British Government says in part that "consideration by His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom of any such scheme of settlement and development must necessarily be governed by the provisions of the Empire Settlement act of 1922, which empowers the secretary of state, in association with the government of any part of His Majesty's dominions to make such public expenditures or public or private organizations either in the United Kingdom or in any of such dominions, to formulate and co-operate in carrying out agreed schemes for affording joint assistance to suitable persons in the United Kingdom, who intend to settle in His Majesty's overseas dominions, provided that the contribution of the secretary of state shall not in any case exceed half of the expenses of the scheme."

Subject to the above conditions His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom would be prepared to give careful consideration to any concrete proposals for promoting land settlement in Canada by immigrants from the United Kingdom, provided such proposals were approved and recommended by and presented to His Majesty's government in Canada or from the provincial government.

The secretary was instructed by council to forward a copy of the letter to the Minister of Natural Resources in Winnipeg, and also to the Premier of Saskatchewan.

TRAIN TELEPHONE NOW A FACT

The Canadian National Railways, which first made possible the reception of radio concerts on board a moving train, an invention which many first class railroads have since copied, have achieved another mechanical triumph by perfecting the first two-way system of telephone communication in the world with moving trains. The system has been put into public service by the company on "The International Limited," which covers the 334 miles separating Montreal and Toronto in 360 minutes, the fastest train in the world traversing a like distance.

The photograph shows Sir Henry Thornton, Chairman and President of the Canadian National Railways, inaugurating the telephone service from "The International Limited" while the train is travelling at 60 miles an hour. At the train switchboard is J. C. Burkholder, Chief Engineer of the Canadian National Telegraphs, who developed and perfected the train telephone system.

Plan Important Survey Work

Far North Area To Be Mapped From Air

Edmonton, Alberta.—Aerial surveys of the far north, inspection work by three field parties under direction of the Department of the Interior, opening of a branch office at Fort Smith, and the transfer to that point of staff from Winnipeg and The Pas, have been announced here.

An aeroplane base is to be established at Fort Resolution, arrangements having been made by the Department of the Interior with The Royal Canadian Air Force. This will be utilized to facilitate important survey work which will be carried out by the Federal Government.

The aerial surveys of the far north and services in the far north are being undertaken by the Department of the Interior in view of the enlarged operations of exploration companies and prospectors.

Exhibiting At British Fairs

Canada Taking Part In Eighteen During Present Year

Ottawa—Canada is participating in 18 exhibitions and trade fairs in Great Britain during the present year, in addition to the British Industries Fair, which was recently held at the Olympia Building, London, England. Most of these exhibitions are open to Canadian manufacturers and are being conducted under the auspices of the Empire Marketing Board and will enable Canadian produce to be exhibited in most of the industrial centres of England, Scotland and Ireland. In addition, Canada is actively participating in the six months' International Exhibition at Antwerp, which opens on April 25.

The recently-announced decision of the government to establish a Canadian pavilion at the British Industries Fair, to be opened to ex-soldiers unless they were also trade unionists, roused a storm of indignation, and veterans' organizations all over Australia were commencing to organize a campaign to fight the government's action.

Request Will Be Considered

C.N.R. May Make The Pas Divisional Headquarters

Saint John, N.B.—The request of town officials that The Pas be made the headquarters for the Canadian National railway line in the northern Manitoba, will receive native consideration, according to advice received from the department of railways and from Sir Henry Thornton, C.N.R.

A letter received by the town clerk states that the minister of railways will make inquiries in the matter and will keep local officers advised of developments.

CIVIL RIOTS IN INDIA REPORTED TO BE SUBSIDING

London, England.—As suddenly as they had flared up India's civil disobedience disorders subsided. From a widely flung storm of violent encounters Mahatma Gandhi's campaign of resistance to the government simmered down to a few widely separated clashes.

The worst of these, costing nine lives, occurred at Chittagong, which was also the scene on April 18, of a battle in which two Europeans and several natives were killed.

Again at Calcutta a armed police force compelled to act. A mob raiding the police station, smashed in its iron gates and there was checked. Several police officers suffered injuries and 25 arrests occurred.

Sims reported officially that four deaths had occurred in recent riots. In the civilian hospital 96 persons were treated. To this number were added 18 police injury cases.

Advices from Delhi stated that patrols of cavalry, infantry and armored cars were being maintained there.

The arrival of V. J. Patel at Bombay, and his pronouncement for a widespread boycott against British goods was the outstanding development in that district. Despatches did not indicate how Mahatma Gandhi's followers would accept this attitude.

The comparative quiet in Bombay was broken only by an early onslaught of a mob upon textile workers who sought to prevent reopening of cotton mills.

The government continues to avoid any utterance which might tend to inflame the native mind. Moderate Indian opinion, it was stated, continues to support the government.

There was a hopeful forward looking attitude for the proposed round-table discussion.

Thus far the government forces have emerged with only one fatality, the killing of a British citizen in Peshawar. This was pointed to as a matter for congratulation as well as an indication of the prompt action taken by the authorities.

MINISTER WARNS AGAINST LOWER GRAIN ACREAGE

When producers of Canada have nothing to gain by cutting down production, Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce told the House of Commons yesterday.

Malcolm said that the Canadian government was considering the new Grain Act and the minister took advantage of the occasion to make a few comments on the grain situation.

The Canadian problem, he said, was more economical and scientific production. Recent experiences, he said, had shown that high-priced wheat encouraged the use of substitutes in European countries. Through the application of chemical treatment European millers were now able to make a fairly good flour out of low grade wheat.

Canada, said the Minister, produced the best wheat in the world and by scientific methods could produce wheat more cheaply than any of her competitors. A high price put it in a poor position but a declining price put it in a stronger position.

The object of the grain act was to regulate the weighing and handling of grain so that whatever the world price might be the Canadian producer would get the greatest possible return. Mr. Malcolm was optimistic about the future. He said Western Canada faced the coming year with an excellent administrative body, the Board of Grain Commissioners, with the best grain act ever had and with the best spirit of co-operation ever experienced.

Pioneer Flying Trip

New York Aviator Will Try Out Northern Route

Saint John, N.B.—An eight to ten day pioneer flying trip between Saint John, as the eastern base, and Port Dickson, on the Asiatic side of the Bering Strait, will be made late this fall or early in the spring of 1931 by George E. King, of New York, a representative of the Junkers Corporation. The flight will be made of establishing a northern air route connecting Asia with the United States and Canada in a commercial way.

Mr. King, who was here recently looking over the local possibilities in the event of such a trade route, said Saint John was an ideal eastern terminal. He could not say definitely whether he would make Saint John or Moscow the starting point in the pioneer flight planned during the month of April or May, 1931. The direction of the flight and the starting point, as well as the time of departure, will depend on the nature of the weather prevailing at the time.

Canada Is Confident

President Of C.P.R. Sees Good Future For Business

Montreal, Que.—General confidence throughout Canada is unshaken by the combination of unusual conditions which has developed the present situation, the country's strength has been effectively proven and the future is not to be viewed with any degree of apprehension, in the opinion of E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, as declared to the shareholders of the company at the annual meeting held here.

While a number of factors, particularly the failure to market Canadian grain, have slowed up freight traffic, it is felt there is nothing of a fundamental character to prevent the return of normal business conditions within the next few months.

Election Likely In July

Ottawa—A July election seems now assured. Premier King announced that as soon as the legislation on the order paper with some minor additions could be agreed with Opposition parties be adopted he would dissolve or prorogue parliament and permit the people to choose their representative to the Empire Economic Conference in London, England, in September.

Takes Heavy Toll

Auckland, N.Z.—Infantile paralysis is taking a heavy toll of natives in the Solomon Islands, and on the Santa Cruz group more than 80 deaths have occurred in recent weeks. Most of these cases have been isolated and several new hospitals have been established to take care of the epidemic.

Great Britain's wealth is estimated at $12,500,000,000, and that of Germany at $97,500,000,000.

Preference Is Re-Established

Australian Government Will Continue Preference To Returned Soldiers

Canberra, Australia.—The Labor Government of Australia has, in the face of strong public opinion, moderated one of its ordinances passed in favor of the trades unions movement.

Prime Minister James Scullin announced the government was reverting to the former regulation which gave first preference to returned soldiers on government work contracts and second preference to traders' unions.

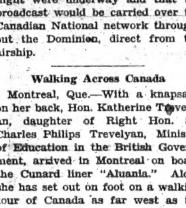

The recently-announced decision of the government to establish a Canadian pavilion at the British Industries Fair, to be opened to ex-soldiers unless they were also trade unionists, roused a storm of indignation, and veterans' organizations all over Australia were commencing to organize a campaign to fight the government's action.

Bill Given Third Reading

Ottawa—After a tempestuous hour in which there were four roll call divisions, the House of Commons gave third reading to the bill to establish divorce court in Ontario. The vote on the third reading stood, yeas 100, nays 85.

TRAIN TELEPHONE NOW A FACT

The Canadian National Railways, which first made possible the reception of radio concerts on board a moving train, an invention which many first class railroads have since copied, have achieved another mechanical triumph by perfecting the first two-way system of telephone communication in the world with moving trains. The system has been put into public service by the company on "The International Limited," which covers the 334 miles separating Montreal and Toronto in 360 minutes, the fastest train in the world traversing a like distance.

The photograph shows Sir Henry Thornton, Chairman and President of the Canadian National Railways, inaugurating the telephone service from "The International Limited" while the train is travelling at 60 miles an hour. At the train switchboard is J. C. Burkholder, Chief Engineer of the Canadian National Telegraphs, who developed and perfected the train telephone system.

Following is the Moose Creed: "Love thy country, and be a loyal, peaceful citizen thereof. Strive to make thy country happy, rather than splendid; peaceful, rather than given to war; contented, rather than turbulent; good, rather than glorious; devoted to ideals, rather than to conquests; and known for the happiness of its people, rather than for the extent of its domain."

Sunday last was observed as "Mothers' Day" at the United church.

In the morning, the girls of the Philomath Group had charge of the service, at which a large number of mothers were present. The service was most fitting and impressive. In the evening, the pastor in charge took as his subject: "Unconquerable Love," and delivered an eloquent discourse that was much enjoyed. During this service, Miss Martin, of Hillcrest, sang "Home, Sweet Home," while Mr. Arthur Hadwell sang "My Mother's Prayer," both of which were well received. The church was packed to capacity for both services.
